Lesson Plan: Observing Nature through the Elements of Art

Background:
- Grade Levels: K - 5
- Time: 45 Minutes

Essential Questions:
- What are the elements of art?
- Where can we see the elements of art in nature around us?

Objective:
Through observing the world around them, students will find and reproduce the elements of art as they appear in nature, thus applying Paul Cézanne’s philosophy, which states, “Art is a harmony parallel with nature.”

Terms:
- Line
- Shape
- Color
- Texture
- Observation

Materials:
- “Field Book” with spaces for each of the art elements – 1 per student
- Pencil – 1 per student
- Color-making Materials (ArtStyx) – Accessible to all students

Lesson:
Introduction:
1. Explain how most artists begin their artwork by observing nature.
   a. Cézanne’s color palette is strongly influenced by the natural blues, greens, and browns from the natural world around him. In addition, he used geometric and organic shapes within his watercolor paintings.
      a. What colors do you see here?
      b. What shapes do you see here?
   b. Images: Provencal Manor (1885), Cistern in the Park of Chateau Noir (1900), Mont Sainte-Victorie (1904-06), Forest Path (1904), Forest Interior (1890)
2. Restate the elements of art the students will be looking for outside (Line, Shape, Color, Texture)
   a. Discuss the relationships of the different elements of art that are seen in nature
   b. Photo of a tree: what elements of art do you see here?
3. Brainstorm with the class on where you could see the different elements.
   a. Show some examples of the elements, and where to find them outside.
   b. Emphasize rubbings to show texture.

Lesson:
1. Students will be allowed to roam in a secure area of nature to find different elements of art.
2. Students will fill each designated page with the separate elements of art, moving from scene to scene outside.
3. Back in the classroom, discuss with your students what they saw outside.

Assessment:
Students will be assessed on:
   - Their understanding of the different elements of art
   - If they reproduced them in their field book accurately

Modifications/Extensions:
- As ages increase, students can combine the elements they observed into a landscape sketch.
  - Focusing on composition, and balance.
- Students can make a “Shape Landscape” of nature, where they choose a scene and abstract it to just the basic forms.
  - Once back in the classroom, students can cut out the shapes on colored paper and make a shape landscape collage.
